Compromise Hinted in Road Fund Fuss

$15 Million Transfer To Local Agencies Studied in Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A compromise, sparing Ohio motorists a possible increase in cost of license plates and the state highway director a $15 million decrease in operating funds, appears to be in the making.

The whole situation revolves around the money the state gets from the automobile plates. At present, all but about $15 million annually goes to counties, municipalities and townships for street and road improvements.

The remaining $15 million or so is used to run the Ohio Department of Highway Safety. But the House passed a bill giving this $15 million to the local governments also, and providing that gasoline tax money should be used to run the Highway Safety Department. The bill went to a committee of the Senate.

That meant that the Department of Highways, which gets the state gas tax money, was threatened with having to get along with $15 million less a year. There were charges and countercharges, including some that Highway Department officials were lobbying in favor of a bill to increase the fee charged for car license plates (to provide the additional money for localities that way) and save the $15 million gas tax money for the department's use.

It appeared, however, that the Senate committee would let the House-approved bill (to give local governments the additional $15 million) emerge virtually unscathed and ready for Senate floor action.

But there are indications now that a compromise can be worked out which will call for dropping efforts to increase the license plate fees, still give the localities the additional $15 million, but spare the Highway Department the loss in gas tax revenues by paying the Highway Safety Department's costs in another way.

This other way, it was indicated, would be through driver license fees and fines—an estimated $4.4 million annually — some existing Utilities Commission fees on motor carriers, and about $10 million from the general fund.

There also is an indication that the compromise—if successful — might include granting home rule powers to municipalities to levy local automobile registration fees.

German Chief Enroute To Meet Kennedy

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer flew to the United States today for his first meeting with President John F. Kennedy and talks about the Atlantic alliance.

The 85-year-old chancellor was due in Washington tonight. Three meetings with President Kennedy were scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday.

Talking to American newsmen Monday night, Adenauer made clear that North Atlantic Treaty Organization problems will be the chief topic in his discussions with Kennedy.

The chancellor said the United States must exercise greater leadership in NATO to strengthen the alliance before the West can hope to talk effectively about controlled disarmament with the Soviet Union.

Adenauer indicated he still favored the Eisenhower administration's proposal to make NATO a fourth nuclear power but that he would not press for it if there was any hope for agreement with the Soviets.

"I can understand that the new administration is making serious efforts to determine if the Russians really want to negotiate," Adenauer said. "And I can also imagine that at such a stage the turning of NATO into a fourth nuclear power might be postponed."

Soviet Increases Airlift to Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has "greatly increased" its airlift of arms and supplies to rebel forces in Laos in the last few days, official U.S. sources report.

These sources said Monday night they were unable to explain the stepped up activity but commented "it is not a positive response to the British request for a cease-fire."

In fact, American officials interpreted the accelerated airlift as more of a rebuff to the British proposal which carries U.S. backing. The proposal called for an immediate cease-fire followed by an international conference on the Laos crisis.

U.S. officials said an effort will be made to learn the exact "arithmetic" of the increased Soviet airdrops. They said, however, that there has been no increase in the flow of U.S. arms to the royal Laos army.

Reports reaching the State Department in the last few days have stressed that no large-scale fighting is under way in the tiny Asian kingdom.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk briefs the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today on the Laotian situation.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said the crisis in Laos is top on the agenda of a closed-door briefing Rusk will give the committee, his first since the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting in Bangkok.

"But I expect he will bring us up to date on the crisis in the Congo, the new threats in Viet Nam and other developments around the world," Sparkman, acting chairman, told a newsmen. The State Department formally

Moscow Mum About Possible Man in Space

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow's officialdom is keeping a tight lip to Western newsmen, at least—concerning widespread rumors that the Soviet Union has launched a man into space.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said late Monday night he had no information on reports Soviet scientists were expected momentarily to announce they had won the astronaut race.

"When there is such information," the spokesman said, "you will hear about it on the radio and see it in the newspapers."

Communist newsmen, who have news sources closer to top officials than do most Westerners, acted as if a big announcement was expected. They apparently had been advised to stay close to their radios and telephones.

A Soviet television crew set up a half-ton of equipment in front of the Central Telegraph Office, as if to film newsmen rushing to transmit an important story. But after two hours they packed up and left.

The Soviet Union, like the United States, has been training astronauts for more than two years. Recently the press has been full of articles about the problems of space flight.

Couple Is Married At Cleric's Bedside

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—This time it was the minister who was a patient at a hospital wedding.

Dr. M. S. Harvey, pastor of the First Methodist Church here, underwent an emergency operation for removal of kidney stones at Akron General Hospital last Friday night. But he didn't let that prevent him from officiating at the scheduled wedding of a young couple Monday night.

The minister broke the hospital's "no visitors" rule by having the couple—Ray Carson, 21, and Miss Brenda Chiaramonte, 17, both of Akron—come to his bedside.

The hospital provided cake following the ceremony.

Sandwich-Water Diet Given Striking Inmates

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—About 700 inmates of the state prison went to bed Monday night with only sandwiches and water under their belts.

Warden Bob Rhye locked them in their cells and decreed their fare when they went on a sitdown strike Monday.

"If they want a sitdown strike," he said, "I'll give them a good one."

The warden said the convicts hadn't submitted any grievances to him, "and I wouldn't pay any attention to them if they had."

announced that Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos has been invited to visit the United States in a private capacity to discuss the Laotian situation with President Kennedy.

The former premier is recognized by the Soviet Union as the head of the legal government of Laos, but is not recognized by the United States. He is expected to hold three days of talks here later this month.

Compensation Program Hit

Mine Chief Decries 'Outrageous Payments'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The head of an Ohio coal mining firm told a legislative committee today that under workmen's compensation "outrageous payments are being collected by employees who have no moral claim to them."

James Hyslop, head of Hanna Coal Co., Cadiz, made the assertion at a Senate Commerce and Labor Committee hearing on proposals to revise laws designed to aid ill and injured workers.

Hyslop said also that "a small, highly organized group of unscrupulous compensation specialists collect extortionate fees from worthy and unworthy claimants alike."

Continuing his prepared testimony, Hyslop said:

"Only 42 per cent of the compensation money exacted from the Hanna Company goes to persons impaired by accidents incurred on the job. The other 58 per cent goes to claimants who are working full time and who are receiving full pay."

"Death claims are filed predicated on the most trivial injuries, or imagined injuries, occurring years before death and bearing no relation to the death of the person involved."

The company chief asserted that death claims from unrelated causes makes it virtually impossible for his firm to estimate future liabilities.

One company which recorded one fatal accident in the last two years had 23 death claims filed against it during that period, Hyslop said.

"Some labor unions are very cognizant of the problems and would like to see something done about it," Hyslop added.

The committee headed by Sen. Harry E. Schwab, R-Fulton, is conducting a series of hearings on several workmen's compensation proposals.

Sabotage Hinted in Ship Disaster

ANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—Capt. Charles Elson, master of the ill-fated British liner Dara told newsmen today that sabotage was "one of the possibilities" leading to the loss of his vessel.

"I have formed certain tentative ideas of my own about the explosion but I am not prepared to say what they are," he told newsmen. "Sabotage is not in my mind but it is one of the possibilities. You cannot rule it out."

Elson said six of the 16 lifeboats were launched from the Dara shortly after an explosion below decks as the ship sailed in the Persian Gulf Saturday morning. The ship sank Sunday despite efforts to tow it to port.

Because of the flames it was impossible to get near the other lifeboats, he said. "I was forced into the sea because of the deck burning through under my feet I reboarded but was forced off again. Then I was hit by falling debris in the sea."

"I reboarded the Dara and was forced off a third time."

Later he returned to help firefighters.

In London the British India Steam Navigation Co. announced revised casualty figures.

The announcement said that latest reports, though still subject to confirmation, indicated 770 persons were aboard the Dara as it lay off the Arabian port of Doha Saturday. The company said the 580 had been accounted for, leaving 190 missing and feared lost.

A LEGAL CHALLENGE — Robert Servatius, Adolf Eichmann's lawyer, leaves the compound after visiting with his client before his trial began. Servatius indicated he will challenge the Jerusalem court's jurisdiction.

DeGaulle Doubts If Rebels Able To Negotiate Peace

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle expressed doubt today that Algeria's revolutionary leaders are capable of taking positive steps to negotiate peace.

De Gaulle told a news conference that France is prepared to talk with the Algerians about self-determination. He added he was "surprised that leaders of the rebellion have not up to now considered it possible to respond to invitations for peace talks."

"I recognize that it is difficult, that it is truly hard for an essentially insurrectional organization to take a constructive position," he continued.

"I recognize that it is difficult for them to take up, with the needed minimum of serenity, questions like that of peace, of organization of a state and economic development of a country."

French and the Algerian rebel attempts to open peace talks last week collapsed.

De Gaulle said that because the rebels have been unable to dominate the half-million-man French army in Algeria "one wonders if, after all, they are capable of moving toward positive action."

The French president, addressing 500 journalists in his ornate Elysee Palace, asserted that for the present France will continue to give Algeria a new political structure "from top to bottom."

"Naturally," De Gaulle said, "we are in a hurry for peace so that the residents of Algeria can sincerely choose their future."

De Gaulle has promised that after peace has returned to Algeria the 10 million Moslem and one million European residents of Algeria will be able to have a free

Capsule Ejection Proven Faulty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A capsule from the satellite Discoverer XXIII went into orbit Monday instead of returning to earth.

The Air Force said radio communications indicated the orbiting satellite, launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Saturday, was wobbling and ejected the capsule into space instead of into a downward trajectory.

The 300-pound capsule was ejected from the satellite at the planned position over Alaska. Discoverer XXIII carried instruments designed to find ways to improve orbital stability, a major problem in the Discoverer series.

Final Tribute Is Paid Fibber McGee's Molly

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Scores of Hollywood personalities and friends paid tribute to Marian Jordan, the wife in the famed radio team of Fibber McGee and Molly, at final rites Monday.

Mrs. Jordan, who would have been 63 Sunday, died of cancer at the couple's suburban Encino home last Friday. She is survived by her husband Jim, who portrayed Fibber, their son Jim Jr. and daughter Kathryn Newcomer.

Eichmann Sits Impassively at Legal Argument

First Day of Trial Taken Up by Babble Over Technicalities

JERUSALEM (AP)—Sitting impassively today in his bullet-proof dock, Adolf Eichmann heard his attorney challenge the right of the Israeli government to bring him here for trial as an arch-prosecutor of Jews.

Then he listened attentively as the government's attorney general responded that such arguments are irrelevant to the basic legality of this nation's action in bringing him to justice.

The first day's session of the Eichmann trial thus ended with the justices considering the arguments of counsel.

Eichmann's chief counsel, pudgy and gray-haired Dr. Robert Servatius of West Germany, challenged the jurisdiction of the special court trying the bald German. He also put into question the 1950 Israeli law under which Eichmann faces a possible death penalty, and the circumstances under which he was spirited from Argentina last May.

As Servatius put it, the defendant before the three German-born judges was simply a tool of the Nazi leaders who ordered the killing of millions of Jews in the infamous World War II purge that ended only 16 years ago this spring.

But Israeli's attorney general, Gideon Hausner, presented another viewpoint. He challenged Servatius' contention that Eichmann can get no fair trial here.

"If there are judges in the whole world who could be impartial about this crime, they are not fit to be judges," he said.

"Adolf Eichmann is here before you legally by an order for his arrest legally issued. The circumstances under which he was brought to this court to discuss. They are irrelevant."

The only relevant matter before the court, Hausner argued, is "the charge of crimes against humanity for which Eichmann is charged."

The arguments about the legality of the case were still going on at 6:35 p.m. when the court recessed until Wednesday.

Israel accuses Eichmann of "crimes against the Jewish people and crimes against humanity." The indictment asserts that he bears direct responsibility for the slaying of millions of Jews, that he caused others "degradation . . . deportation . . . deprivation . . . and inhuman torture and suffering."

Israel has abolished capital punishment except for crimes against humanity under the 1950 law. On 12 of the 15 counts against Eichmann, the maximum penalty is death.

Eichmann, as chief of the Jewish Affairs Section of the Nazi Gestapo during the war, is accused of direct responsibility for the catastrophe visited on the Jews.

He stood in the dock—shielded from the audience by sheets of bulletproof glass—stony-faced and motionless as a statue.

Another Bombing Probed in Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A bomb, planted on the outside of the home of an automotive plant worker, early today ripped a hole in the basement wall.

The occupants, William F. Becker, his wife, and 17-year-old son, were asleep on the second floor of the dwelling in the southeast section of Warren. They were not hurt.

The blast was the second in the city in less than a month and the 70th unsolved bombing in Mahoning Valley in the last 9½ years.

Becker and his wife are employed at the Packard Electric Division of General Motors Corp. here. They told police they had received threatening anonymous telephone calls the past two months but could give no reason for them.

Castro Is Alerted By Invasion Talk

HAVANA (AP)—Amid reliable but unconfirmed reports of increasing rebel activity in the mountains of Cuba, there were growing indications today the Castro regime may be quietly mobilizing anti-invasion defenses again.

The controlled press and radio maintained a blackout on reports from the United States that exiled Cuban liberation forces are grooming for an invasion of this Caribbean island.

But though Prime Minister Fidel Castro has not given a public invasion alert, the atmosphere was more tense than at any time in the history of the two-year old revolutionary government.

Travelers and other sources reported particularly heavy government troop movements in three provinces: Westernmost Pinar Del Rio, eastern Oriente and in central Las Villas, whose northern coastal keys are 150 miles from anti-Castro forces in Florida.

Militiamen were reported digging trenches along the north coast highway from Havana east to Matanzas and along the southern coast of Pinar del Rio.

The government radio however, reported welcoming parties for militiamen returning home after "smashing counter-revolutionary worms" in the Escambray Mountains of Las Villas.

Meanwhile, the New York Times reported that a sharp policy dispute is going on among President Kennedy's advisers "about how far to go in helping Cuban refugees to overthrow the Castro government."

The Times, which reported the dispute in a Washington dispatch, said it has been going on "at the very top of the government" for two weeks.

President Kennedy has been receiving conflicting advice from his principal advisers in the White House, the Central Intelligence Agency and the State and Defense departments.

Some officials are urging the President to provide enough military and economic assistance to enable the refugees to establish effective control over at least part of Cuba.

It is understood, however, that the State Department is worried about the political and military consequences in the hemisphere and elsewhere of providing military force to achieve political ends.

Senate Chief OKs Kennedy Laos Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana said today he is confident that President Kennedy's policy on Laos is right.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, expressed this view at the White House after he and other party leaders held their regular weekly meeting with Kennedy.

There was no indication the situation in Communist-threatened Laos was discussed at the meeting. A reporter asked Mansfield, however, whether he is disturbed by what the newsmen called Republican criticism of the administration policy on Laos.

"Not at all," Mansfield replied. "I think that what the President does will be in the right direction for both the country and the free world."

"I am not at all disturbed by political moves and gestures of this kind."

Some Republicans in Congress have suggested that the administration is following a compromise course in its efforts to end the fighting in Laos.

The fire has centered on contentions that neutralist and even Communist factions must be represented in the Laotian government to achieve a settlement.

Katanga Officials Block U.N. Funds

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A United Nations spokesman said today the Katanga government has blocked all U.N. bank funds in the city.

The blocking of the accounts follows Monday's threat by President Moise Tshombe to enforce economic sanctions against the United Nations unless Ethiopian soldiers in Kabalo either were replaced or ordered to give up their "act of aggression" against Katanga forces. Katanga's army occupied the town last week.

The spokesman said that the Ethiopian casualties in clashes with the Katanga forces in Kabalo now stood at two dead and eight wounded. The previous figure given was one dead and five wounded.

South Africa May Leave U.N.

Political Committee Calls for Boycott

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Delegates predicted today that mounting pressure at the United Nations against South Africa's race policies may goad Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's government into quitting the world organization.

The General Assembly's special political committee Monday approved an African resolution calling for a worldwide economic and diplomatic boycott of South Africa's white supremacist government.

Some diplomats believed if the 26-nation resolution — denounced by the South African government as "bitterly unfair" — picked up enough support to clear the General Assembly, South Africa might pull out.

The committee approved the resolution 47-29 with 18 abstentions. This was short of the two-thirds majority needed for assembly approval but only a simple majority was needed for committee approval.

Sources close to the South African delegation said no announcement would be made until after the assembly acts.

Some U.N. delegates expressed doubt the South African government would withdraw as the result of a milder Asian resolution that is expected to pass the assembly.

This resolution, which cleared the committee 93-1 with no abstentions, also denounces South Africa's racial policies but leaves action against South Africa up to individual nations. Only Portugal voted against it.

Four Injured In Crashes

Four persons suffered minor injuries in two vehicle accidents here yesterday and today.

John R. Weaver, 29, Route 1, Stoutsville, received minor abrasions at 11:37 a. m. yesterday in a collision on E. Main St. near Pickaway St. Betty Weaver, 29, a passenger, suffered lacerations on the forehead. They were taken to Berger Hospital.

The other auto was operated by Larry R. DePugh, 18, Chillicothe. He was not hurt.

An accident at 7:52 a. m. today involved vehicles driven by Grover Mace, 73, Circleville, and James W. Ford, 37, of 512 S. Court St. The crash was at Mill and Washington Sts.

ELIZABETH Hill, 41, a passenger in the Mace car, suffered knee abrasions.

Patrolman William Goff said a four vehicles involved in the crashes were extensively damaged.

Bitzer Will Is Contested In Court of Common Pleas

A lawsuit has been filed in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court contesting the will of the late Jessie M. Bitzer, who died Jan. 5, 1961.

Contesting the will are four children and two grandchildren of the deceased. They are William Bitzer, Route 4; Marie M. Bates, Columbus; Nolan D. Bitzer, Columbus; Francis R. Bitzer, Chillicothe; Joanne Judy, Columbus; and Phillip Judy, Route 1, Laurelville.

The court action has been filed against Florence Ann Jury, 514 N. Court St., as an individual and as the executrix of the estate of the deceased. Mrs. Jury is also a daughter of the decedent.

The plaintiffs state in their petition that the paper, designated as the will of the decedent, was not the last will and testament, because at the time of execution the decedent was not of sound mind and disposing memory and did not have sufficient mental capacity to make a will.

THEY further allege that prior to the death of Mrs. Bitzer, Florence Jury prevailed upon her to move into her home during August, 1960, approximately the time the will was executed.

The petition further stated that Mrs. Bitzer has been ill for a number of years suffering from cancer and that Mrs. Jury administered excessive amounts of narcotics to her, made excessive promises, threats and pressured her into making the will.

The plaintiffs also contend that Mrs. Jury permitted the decedent to remain in her home for a short time and then had her placed in a hospital until the time of her death.

The petition states that Mrs. Jury caused 130 shares of BancOhio Corporation stock to be changed on record from ownership of the decedent to her own.

According to record, total inventory of the estate was appraised at $10,225. This figure does not include the appraisal of stocks and securities.

The alleged will of Mrs. Bitzer stated that all real estate, stocks and securities were to be sold at the time of her death and the money was to be distributed as prescribed.

ACCORDING to the will, after all debts and funeral expenses were paid, each of the five children were to receive one-sixth of the proceeds and the two grandchildren were to receive one-twelfth.

Witnesses to the alleged last will and testament of Jessie M. Bitzer were Charles H. May and Richard W. Penn, both Circleville attorneys.

High School Teachers Cited by Chemical Group
PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Two Lake County men have been cited for excellence by the North-eastern Ohio Section of the American Chemical Society. Recipients of the second annual award Monday night were Albert W. Dolan Jr., a chemistry teacher at Willoughby South High School, and Roger H. Stanley, a biology teacher at Painesville Riverside High School.

Kennecott added about 3. Anacanda and Phelps Dodge rose more than a point each.

Magnavox spurted about 4 points.

Raytheon was up about a point. Universal Match dropped a fraction.

Union Carbide added more than 3 but DuPont backed away from recent gains, losing more than 3. Eastman Kodak was down about a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.84 at 684.90. Corporate bonds declined U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Folk Festival Saturday at State Grounds

"Would you like to go to a real swinging hoedown with the best square dance callers in the state?" asks Mrs. Koleen Wright, local home economics extension agent.

Mrs. Wright said the Ohio Folk Festival, an annual event, will be Saturday at the Arts and Crafts Building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds. In recent years it was held in November.

The square dance party will begin at 8 p. m. Callers will be Larry Hines, Ashville; Paul Jonard, Noble County; George Garmon, Ashtabula County; Al Sweinhart, Wayne County; and Harold Leber, Sandusky County. Mel Stocksdale's Orchestra from Wooster will furnish the music.

The local agent said persons wanting to improve their dancing skill or learn to call square dancing may attend a workshop.

Registration for the workshops will be from 9 to 9:45 a. m.

Persons attending will meet people from all over Ohio. There is a lot of fun in store for all those attending the Ohio Folk Festival, Mrs. Wright said.

Miss Ohio of 1960 Presents Talk at Kiwanis Club Meet

Alice McClain of Marion, Miss Ohio for 1960, delighted members wives and guests at last night's Kiwanis Ladies Night Smorgasbord at the high school social rooms.

Miss McClain, an employee of the General Telephone Co. in Marion, told of her interesting experiences in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City. She listed the meeting of many famous personalities as one of the top enjoyments of the contest.

Carole Weiler, Circleville's own Miss Ohio in 1959, was scheduled to attend, but a heavy work slate at Ohio State University forced a cancellation. Miss Weiler and Miss McClain have become close friends during the last year.

Miss McClain said the Miss America Contest was a fabulous experience, but pointed out that all girls participating followed a busy and hectic schedule during the stay at Atlantic City.

JOHN Helman, a representative of General Telephone's public relations department, also was a guest speaker. He based his talk on satellite communications of the future and the many telephone innovations now in the planning stage.

Helman demonstrated and explained several of the planned items of equipment of the future.

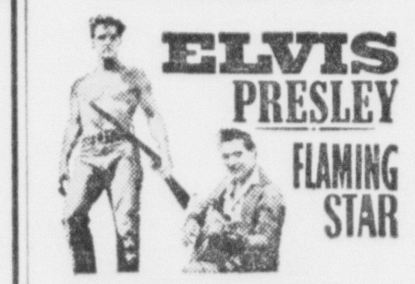

Helman and Miss McClain were brought here through the efforts of Kiwanian Keith Wagner of the local telephone office.

Ohio Assembly Still Debates Highway Fund

The start of the 15th work week was a tragic one, with the death at the close of a committee meeting of Rep. Ralph L. Humphrey, R-Ashtabula. His death, and that of Rep. Joseph E. Lady, R-Hardin, earlier in the session, means the Republicans now hold only an 82-55 edge in the House.

Lawmakers found a special message from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle waiting for them when they returned to the Statehouse Monday.

Ohio is making gains in its mental health treatment program, the governor said. But he asserted it would be false economy to balance the state budget at the expense of the program.

In his plea for a $12 million increase in the mental health appropriation, DiSalle also called on the legislature to change the law covering admissions to mental hospitals. He wants people with possible mental problems committed by probate courts to state hospitals for observation. The decision on final commitment would be in the hands of the hospital professional staffs.

In the long run, DiSalle said, such a program probably would save the state money, because some nonpsychotic persons now are being committed by judges who have no medical knowledge of mental illness symptoms. Many judges would be glad to be relieved of the responsibility, DiSalle asserted.

The governor's plea was based on a report to Congress and the 50 state governors by a joint commission on mental illness, after a five-year study.

The Senate was expected to act today on five measures, mostly technical in nature and dealing with legal procedures, corporation law and county cooperation with other government agencies in water management.

The House was to consider — among others—bills dealing with movement of prisoners between institutions, municipal annexation, increasing the penalty from $50 to $500 for highway litterbugs and disqualifying for seven years any candidates failing to file campaign expense-income reports after running for a six-year term office.

Ten bills were passed during Monday's late-afternoon session, eight by the House and two by the Senate.

The Senate passed and sent to the House bills to:

Permit boards of election in counties where voter registration is being adopted for the first time to set their own ground rules for registration dates.

Eliminate .22 caliber weapons from the machine gun definition.

Among others, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

Allow the state to certify city building departments as a means of improving local enforcement of building standards.

Require that an Ohio residence be listed on the state's driver's license so that persons living out-of-state cannot use it to avoid motorists' responsibilities or prosecution.

Permit new Ohioans, with drivers' licenses from other states, to get Ohio drivers' licenses after an examination without first obtaining a temporary permit.

Require stoplights, activated by the brake pedal, on all cars sold after Jan. 1, 1962.

The age of dinosaurs lingers on at four rarely visited islands of Indonesia. There, 10-foot-long lizards often weighing 200 pounds still stalk prey, sharp claws glinting and forked tongues flicking out of massive heads.

District Meet Enjoyed by Local Jaycees

The Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce was well represented at the District No. 12 meeting Saturday in Chillicothe.

Approximately 20 members of the local organization attended the session. Most of them made the trip on a special bus.

This type district meeting is held twice each year. The session was highlighted by the district finals of the "Speak Up Jaycees" contest.

Members attending also had an opportunity to hear the four Jaycees men campaigning for the 1961-

62 State Jaycees Presidential office. The candidates are Richard Retterer, Richard Croyle, Elmer Williams and Rex Kieffer. The Saturday meeting was hosted by the Chillicothe Junior Chamber of Commerce. Approximately 125 members from various clubs attended.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had a knack for making his critics at home and Communists abroad grit their teeth. He could convey a sense of violence by the way he used the language.

President Kennedy can say almost the same things—emphasis on almost — and yet manage to look peaceful and restrained.

The Kennedy administration is committed — as the Eisenhower administration was—to a single, paramount assurance. That this country will not start a war.

The policy of both administrations: Keep the Communist world guessing so that it won't know what it will be hit with if it starts aggression.

But Dulles used a phrase he seemed to like—"massive retaliation"—which his critics threw at him for most of his time in the State Department.

It has been said this year that the Kennedy administration has scrapped the idea of "massive retaliation." Kennedy's own statements do not bear this out. He avoided using such a provocative phrase as massive retaliation but still used language which, while it looks much milder, the Communists can interpret as meaning retaliation against them may well be massive if they go too far.

Both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations have emphasized the need for building up local defenses against attacks which might be short of all-out war, although Kennedy has stressed this more.

But Dulles in his dramatic way added this:

"Local defense will always be important. But there is no local defense which alone will contain the mighty land power of the Communist world. Local defense must be reinforced by the further deterrent of massive retaliatory power."

He made this statement Jan. 13, 1954. It may have sounded big. But if it was intended to scare the Communists it didn't.

Within a few months after he talked of "massive retaliatory power" the Communists smashed the French in Indochina and took half the country while this country sat by doing nothing but talking.

But this is where Dulles and Kennedy sound alike and are saying the same thing.

On March 16, 1954 Dulles said "to deter aggression it is important to have the flexibility and the facilities which make various responses available. In many cases, any open assault by Communist forces could only result in starting a general war."

"But the free world must have the means for responding effectively on a selective basis when it chooses. It must not put itself in the position where the only response open to it is general war," Kennedy, in his defense message to Congress March 28, said "Our defense posture must be both flexible and determined. Any potential aggressor contemplating an attack on any part of the free world with any kind of weapons, conventional or nuclear, must know that our response will be suitable, selective, swift and effective."

"We must be able to make deliberate choices in weapons and strategy, shift the tempo of our production and alter the direction of our forces to meet rapidly changing conditions or objectives at very short notice and under any circumstances."

In both those statements the Communists were left guessing as to what kind of retaliation the United States would use.

Mutual Life To Build New Columbus Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York announced today its plans to build a $200,000, 8,000 square-foot, one-story office building on Dublin Road here, to be completed before the end of the year.

A company spokesman said the new building will serve primarily the Columbus agency, which has been growing rapidly and overflowing its present offices on East Broad Street.

Anti-Castro Pilots Start Training Stint

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—More than 35 anti-Castro airplane pilots were reported headed for a secret training camp to heed a call by the Cuban Revolutionary Council for a "second war of liberation."

The pilots, including some formerly associated with Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista, reportedly left Miami Sunday for a secret training camp, probably in Central America.

Family members and friends said the men were stripped of their clothing and identification, given uniforms and told to say their goodbyes before being spirited out of the United States.

It was the first time so-called "Baistianos" were reported to have joined forces against Prime Minister Fidel Castro. Those with Batista ties previously had been excluded from major revolutionary organizations.

The call for a "second war of liberation" was sounded by Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, president of the anti-Castro Cuban Revolutionary Council in New York. He said his country is occupied by "a foreign army at the service of those who betrayed the revolution."

Miro Cardona refused to discuss any timetable for possible landings on Cuban soil or strength of the invasion forces. He said when these forces become active inside Cuba they will number six million, embracing "all of Cuba."

Attlee Raps Ike's Ability As General

LONDON (AP) — Lord Attlee, Labor leader in Britain's wartime government and later prime minister, now says the Allied forces would have been better off under a British general rather than Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In memoirs published this week, Attlee said Field Marshal Lord Alanbrooke, then British chief of staff, would have been better at the job of beating Germany. He implied that Eisenhower got it because an American had to be chosen and the best American general was the U. S. chief of staff, George C. Marshall.

Said Attlee in a book entitled "A Prime Minister Remembers." "I don't say that Eisenhower did not do well but I think Alanbrooke was better."

"I was surprised when the Americans put in Eisenhower. He was fairly junior and he'd never commanded in the field. But it had to be an American and I suppose they thought Marshall was too important at home. Ike was a very good fellow; an extremely good diplomat, the man to get 'em all working together, a man of courage, who took important decisions without hesitating. But not a great soldier, not in any sense a major strategist. He hadn't a very good strategic background or conception."

School Music Instructor May Lose State License

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Education has taken its first steps to revoke the teaching certificate of Paul C. Van Dyne, a 42-year-old music instructor in Mercer County who was convicted on a morals charge in 1958.

Mercer County Prosecutor Dean James requested the revocation and the board Monday set July 10 for a hearing on the case in Columbus.

Van Dyne, who had been teaching at Rockford, was dismissed by the Rockford board after the end of the first semester when it was learned that a three-judge court in Clermont County had found him guilty of indecent exposure and taking indecent liberties with a girl student when he was a teacher at Williamsburg. At that time Van Dyne was placed on probation for five years and fined $5,000. Half the fine was suspended.

Harold C. Bowers, assistant state superintendent, said the Ohio Department of Education had no knowledge of the conviction. Van Dyne was employed by the Rockford board last September.

Much of the board's other action at its April meeting Monday dealt with school charters.

Initial action was taken to revoke the charters of 11 high schools in Logan and Coshocton counties, effective June 30, 1962. All are in violation of the state minimum school standards. Each school board involved has the opportunity for a public hearing if it chooses.

The schools range in size from 63 to 162 pupils. To include, in Coshocton County—Roscoe, Keene, Conesville, Fresno, Union and Warsaw; and in Logan County—Huntsville, Bokesville, Rushsylv-vania, Perry-Zane and Zanesfield-Monroe.

The board agreed to suspend until June 30, 1962, the revocation action taken on charters of eight other high schools. All would have been revoked June 30 of this year.

The delay for Pleasant Hill, Cumberland - Spencer and Valley Local, all of Guernsey County, was approved in order to permit voters of the area to vote in November on a proposed bond issue to construct a $1 million consolidated high school. A similar proposed bond issue in Noble County caused the extension of the charters of Beaver, Belle Valley, Center and Summerfield high schools.

The delay in the charter revocation of Dexter City High School in Noble County was approved on condition that the state board make a restudy of possible consolidation including Caldwell exempted village district in that county. A consolidation proposal by the state board which would have combined Caldwell with six county districts was voted down in November 1959.

Final action was taken to revoke the charters of two Brown County high schools—Russellville-Jefferson and Sardinia—effective June 30, 1962. A new consolidated school has been approved by voters and will be completed by that time.

In other actions, the board: Approved submission of the following bond issues by school boards which would make the debt of the districts over 6 percent of the property valuation: Fredericktown (Knox and Morrow counties) $650,000; Bay Village city $510,000; Beechwood (Cuyahoga County) $300,000, and Greenhills (Hamilton County) $625,000. Rescinded a $193,232 building aid grant to Fairland Local (Lawrence County) after voters for the second time on April 4 defeated a local bond issue.

Approved a grant of $256,506 to Kenston (Geauga County) for building aid, using the money returned from Fairland, plus small amounts from two other districts.

Authorized a 90-day time extension for Southern Local (Columbiana County) to qualify for a state building aid grant because of complications involving reappraisal of property which may make it impossible for voters of the district to act on the issue at the May 2 primary election.

Delayed until a later meeting any action on an application on a Warren school district addition.

The next regular meeting of the board was scheduled for July 10. However, the board said a meeting could be held before then should the necessity arise.

We Need 40-Hour Week

In voicing opposition to shortening of the standard work week in the United States below 40 hours, President Kennedy took a stand in favor of expansion, instead of shrinkage, of the economy.

While much of organized labor has embraced the shorter work week (to as low as 30 hours), and the President is heavily indebted to that group for his skimpy victory last November, it is clear to him that a shorter work week would be a retreat.

Shortening hours of labor by 25 per cent, at no loss of take-home pay, would lessen production in competition with other nations, especially the communist nations where the work week is considerably more than 40 hours. It would increase prices, burdening consumers and putting addition-

An American Isn't a Nazi

When a body of Americans calls itself the "American Nazi Party" it is guilty of an absurdity.

An American cannot be a Nazi. A Nazi is a German National Socialist, a follower of Adolf Hitler, against whom the United States declared war. This so-called American organization uses the Swastika as an emblem.

The State of Virginia, in giving the "American Nazi Party" a charter, joined in this absurdity. There may be some explanation for this, but whatever it may be, it is an absurdity. Some folks are pretty lavish with the soft soap. But then soap is about 90 per cent lye.

These and similar statements appear in an editorial in the AMA News. The socialists want to use socialized medicine, according to the AMA view, as the "springboard to reach that bigger prize — full socialism in the United States."

So no one can accuse the American Medical Association of muting its voice. It has taken its stand and it would be a dense person indeed who did not comprehend just what that stand is.

Professor Paid To Sip Wine

famed wine centers as France, Germany and Portugal.

At the end of the year Amerine, who can easily identify 100 kinds of wine, expects his senior students to be able to classify by taste, color and aroma at least 25 of the popular wines.

The students don't get to drink the wine. They merely sit in cubicles and sniff and taste the samples—then expostorate them, as does a professional tester.

A course in wine making might sound like a collegiate boondoggle to the uninitiated. It isn't.

"We don't have the problem of the smart alec student looking for a snap subject. Before enrolling our students have to have 16 units of chemistry, 8 units of physics and 9 units of math, including calculus," Amerine said.

"The requirements are so stiff they eliminate all except the serious students, those really interested in finding a career in the wine industry."

The department spends nearly a million dollars a year in teaching and research. It is currently conducting perhaps the most active grape breeding project in the world.

To Amerine, oenology is more than a mere academic pursuit. To him the lore of wine is full of both poetry and romance.

"A good wine must have a come-hither quality — something to stimulate the imagination.

"A memorable woman or a memorable wine must have a special individual quality—if either is too transparent, how can either be really interesting?"

To save your unborn baby, you're ordered to bed for three months!

What happens to the children? Dad has to work. What about dusting, cooking and shopping?

Your doctor may phone for a Visiting Homemaker — a domestic Visiting Nurse. She's chief cook and bottle washer and a built-in baby-sitter. She leaves medical problems for the nurse and doctor.

After surviving stiff competition, the new Homemaker has to pass basic training, which sometimes includes courses from the local university. You wouldn't want just anyone caring for your family.

Homemaker offices are always jammed with prospective recruits, because the Homemaker herself benefits.

After her children had married and moved away, Mrs. Brown felt unwanted and unneeded.

Today, as a Visiting Homemaker, she's become a vitally needed lifesaver, keeping many people from sinking into the depths of despair. Like Mr. and Mrs. Mead, for example.

When the State of Virginia granted the American Nazi Party a charter, some official was not thinking clearly. He would not have granted such a document to anybody during World War II. Are we so far from that war that we have forgotten what it was about? As a matter of fact, let us ask ourselves what it was about.

The Nazi, a socialist party not very different in basic ideology from the Communists, added a racial touch to their program. The reason that Hitler needed racism was that socialism is not politically dramatic. It is not dramatic in any country. To feed the populace, something must be added. Hitler added genocide. His program was to kill Jews and thus add the excitement of murder to his brand of socialism. He managed to kill 6,000,000 of them. He found creatures who were willing to make lampshades of human skin — an afternoon's pastime at a coffee-break. His nation wallowed in a sea of blood before it was defeated by American troops, some of them surely coming from Virginia.

A Nazi therefore is a National Socialist who accepts racism as a creed and who believes that murder is justifiable if it is committed wholesale and by orders of the Party. It is pleasanter to watch "Gunsmoke" or "Have Gun Will Travel" on television. Vicarious murder is pleasanter than the real thing except for some small boys who want to pull out the whiskers of a cat or adults who are still small boys because although their bodies have grown, their minds continue to dwell on the "Let's play cops and robbers" phase of human development. There are still many such.

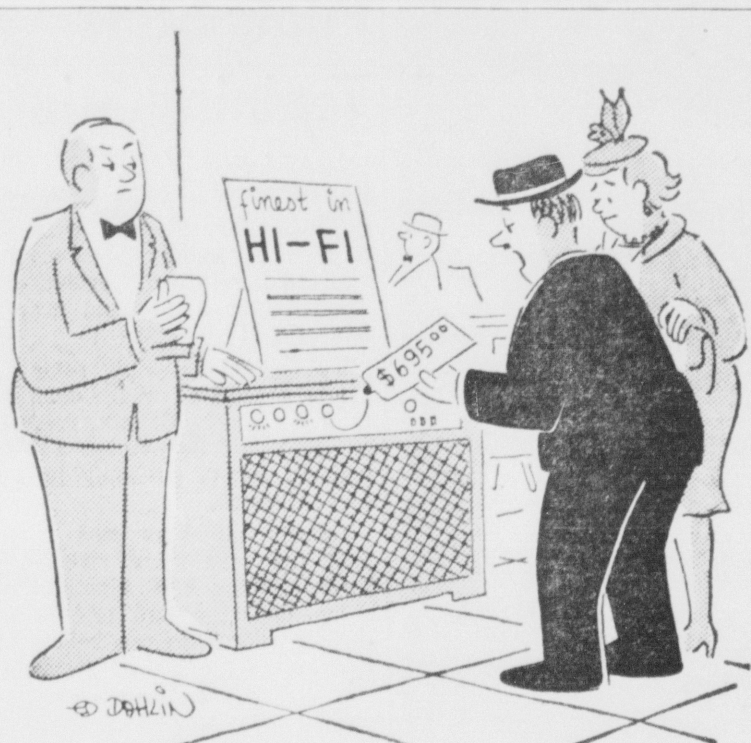

The danger of all this in this country is that the victims will not submit and wherever the American Nazi Party or its leaders appear, others appear to take them on. This means riots. Such disorders are not needed here and generally public authorities put them down with fire-hose although machine guns are at times also used. Who needs it?

Exhibitionism and egotism are amusing until they become a bore.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The recovery watchers are out in force today. They hail every sign that better days are coming. They point eagerly to every report that the business downturn is slackening or leveling off.

Not even spring storms and the approach of income tax reckoning day can dim their joy.

Though this may prove to have been the mildest and shortest recession since the war, it is probably the most unpopular.

There was a sense of insult added to injury. The recession wasn't supposed to be. Instead we were supposed to be setting forth on the Glorious Sixties.

Much worse, the recession built on top of already considerable unemployment and has carried it to seven per cent of the total labor force. Even the most optimistic of the recovery watchers don't sight any quick and easy solution, any sizable drop in the number out of work.

Those who are out early watching for the first flutter among the recession thickets are being rewarded.

The news in recent days has had more good than bad items — a welcome change after a nasty winter.

Steel mills report they are getting more orders. There's no runaway demand, but most companies now say their April business will top March, and May should bring a further advance.

Copper and some other non-ferrous metals are feeling better. The domestic demand has improved of late. Some foreign copper producing areas are gripped by political uncertainty, making the chances of overcoming the world surplus that much better. Copper scrap prices have risen, and U. S. producers talk of a coming rise in the price of refined copper, now 29 cents a pound.

Purchasing agents, who often are involved first in any changes in the economic trend, report that for the first time in months new orders and output have turned up at many of their plants. They also say their inventories have steadied, perhaps heralding the end of stock trimming.

Government statistics, necessarily trailing those of the purchasing agents, report that total inventories fell in February from January. And the biggest drop was in retail stocks. This is taken to indicate that manufacturers have completed their inventory adjustments and are again in a position to buy, while retailers should soon be, if they aren't already.

Middletown Car Dealers Boost Steel

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—A group of Middletown new car dealers have decided to band together briefly for a sales promotion stunt based on a slogan — "We Sell Steel."

The idea is logical in this community where Armco Steel Corp. is the dominant employer. Armco officials plan to help the promotion.

A dinner last night starts it off. Other plans include parades and exhibits. Some dealers plan to put their salesmen in steel sandhog hats, at least during working hours.

A similar idea was tried in Sharon, Pa., and a Middletown car dealer, James Guyler, started to use the slogan alone a month ago.

Guyler said, "Middletown has never been a city to sit idly by and expect someone else to solve its problems. We know that selling steel means better times for everyone. . ."

Embattled Bowling Green Prexy Claims He's 'Liberal'

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—native Yankee, once nearly successful in riding the liberal banner into the North Carolina governor's chair, expresses amazement that some of his students have called him reactionary.

Bowling Green University President Ralph W. McDonald was talking against the backdrop of a deceptively tranquil campus. On the rainy, tree-lined walks, students were hurrying to classes, resuming the normal campus tempo after spring vacation.

But if the tempo was normal, student conversations were not. Discussions were monopolized by recollections of the storm demonstrations of last week.

And the targets of the demonstrations — "censorship" of the school newspaper, campus rules against hand - holding, goodnight kisses and all beer drinking—drew bitter comments from some 90 per cent of students interviewed.

All this seemed remote as McDonald ushered a reporter-photographer team into his office after lunch.

A tall, gracious-mannered man whose courtly speech bears strong traces of his adult years in the south, the Illinois native complied enthusiastically with a request for a personal history sketch.

Highlight of the leisurely narrative dealt with his involvement in North Carolina politics "on the liberal side."

As a "side" none of the Bowling Green students appeared aware of, it seemed worth probing.

Recalling with obvious zest his 1936 race for the governor's chair while a 33-year-old professor, McDonald said: "It all happened without the slightest show of interest on my part. No one could have been more innocent of politics than I was."

The result, McDonald said, was a record vote total and apparent victory—until the absentee ballots were counted and gave his opponent a narrow edge.

Yet McDonald feels he accomplished something by helping put liberalism on a lasting basis.

"Some people down there still call the movement 'McDonaldism,'" he said proudly.

"I finally left the state in 1944 to take a job in Washington," he added, "because every time an issue came up, people wanted me to run for senator."

When the conversation turned to McDonald's present "constituency" — he indicated a confidence that something of the same aura of approval surrounds his work.

The gist of disapproving comments picked up around campus about rules and regulations was relayed to him.

"You'd better talk to some more students," McDonald said tartly.

"Bad publicity revolving around students' comments quoted in the press," he said, "is the fault of freshmen who haven't been around long enough to know what is going on."

"Many freshmen," he added, "may resent our regulations until they get to feel that 'I'm a part of Bowling Green.'"

To even a casual observer, however, it seemed clear that freshmen weren't the only students whose ties to alma mater were being frayed.

One junior told of the "feeling of futility" some journalism students get from working on the student newspaper.

"It is understood that the newspaper would not dare to take an editorial position which criticized or even implied criticism of administration rules, or the handling of the demonstrations."

IT'S A HITCHING — Actress Vivien Leigh and actor John Merivale are shown during a tour of "Duel of Angels," before setting an April 10 date for their marriage in Tobago, West Indies. She and Laurence Olivier were divorced after 18 years of marriage.

"But further than that, you dare not report the simple, straight-forward facts of the incidents. If you've been around awhile, you can save the time it would take to write it and have it censored by the administration. You can tell an adviser what you plan to write and get advice."

"It doesn't give you much training for a future as a reporter in a free nation's free press, but not writing is a way of keeping out of trouble and getting your degree."

Informed of this criticism, newspaper director Donald Brenner conceded "overcaution" had ruled in the past and that the paper had been "a little one-sided-in favor of the administration's viewpoint."

"But," he added, "the term censorship" is not applicable. There is a lot of misunderstanding because many students don't realize the fact that our newspaper isn't set up as a student newspaper. It's a university newspaper."

As such, Brenner explained, the newspaper's content is largely supplied by journalism students working for classroom credit.

Administration interference with the paper has not occurred he said.

Almost to a man, students criticized restrictions on their "freedom" and laid the blame at the feet of one man—President McDonald.

This feeling, McDonald said, stems from "misunderstanding that we'll have to clear up."

Asked to clarify just what the university's rules are on personal conduct and on control of the student newspaper, McDonald stated:

1. Hand-holding and goodnight kisses are not prohibited by the university. If there are penalties against these actions (and students generally claim there are), they are imposed by the association of women students, a self-governing body.

2. He (McDonald) has never interfered with a single line print in the university newspaper, but he now feels "it should definitely be improved and it will be." Changes, he indicated, will be made according to suggestions by the student council. McDonald said, however, that he had recently suggested one change — more coverage of world affairs and Africa in particular.

3. Beer drinking for students of all ages is prohibited, except when they are home and out of the university's jurisdiction.

Despite his announced belief that misunderstanding and ignorance have triggered most criticism, McDonald also said the protests "may be helpful" and "we may be able to make some improvements" as a result.

Changes, he indicated, would be worked out in consultations between the student council and the school administration.

Apparently occupying a higher priority on the university administration's calendar, however, is a continuing probe aimed at disciplining student leaders involved in demonstrations just before Easter vacation.

Thus far out of 14 students dismissed, five have been reinstated. Dean of men Wallace G. Taylor, one of the people questioning students, defended the action. "This isn't a witch hunt," he said. "We feel it's a counseling situation also."

TV's 'Perry Mason' Displays Punishing Capacity for Work

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"With all that is going on today, with all the opportunities that are available, a person should be pretty darned sure that when he kicks off he leaves this world a better place—or at least not a worse one."

Short of psychoanalysis, this is perhaps the best explanation of the phenomenon of Raymond Burr. It comes from Burr himself, a man whose almost punishing capacity for work has stirred the admiration and puzzlement of his fellow actors.

Ask any of them who is the hardest-working actor in Hollywood and the reply will be: Raymond Burr. He is considered an acting machine—though his work is by no means mechanical.

Sometimes the machine breaks down. Burr was hospitalized more than once during the first two years of his "Perry Mason" TV series. He was back in the hospital recently for two sieges totaling 18 days.

"When my strength gets down, I am susceptible to ailments," he said. "This time I got a virus that I couldn't shake off. It got into the muscle of my back and chest and I had to go into the hospital. I was in traction much of the time."

But he bounced back and is once again laboring as Mason. He talked about his rigorous routine over a weight-watching lunch of consommé and hamburger steak; he said it was the first lunch interview he had been able to arrange in four years. Such is his schedule.

Did he know what he was getting into when he signed on as Perry?

"I thought I did," he said. "I had had offers for several series. I took Mason because I thought it would be done with quality."

"I was right about that. But I didn't realize that other hour shows had two or more leading characters to carry the load; 'Mason' couldn't. And I didn't realize I would not only have an immense amount of dialogue to learn, but it would be much questioning with no continuing train of thought—the most difficult dialogue to learn."

"On each hour show, Bill Talman has as much dialogue as the star of an average feature movie. I have four times the dialogue Bill has."

How does he learn and deliver all this wordage, plus the changes that sometimes come hourly? By doing little else. He has a lovely home beside the breakers north of Malibu, but he sees it only one weekend. During the week he lives at General Service Studios, where the series is filmed.

Burr finishes the season in June, takes a breather and then plunges into his fifth year in the courtroom.

South West Africa Eyes Soviet Vessels

WINDHOEK, South West Africa (AP)—White residents of mandated South West Africa plan to ask Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd to do something to chase away a Soviet fishing fleet which has been parking off these shores, and which is suspected of doing more spying than fishing. An official announcement today said the activities of this Soviet fleet, consisting of at least nine vessels, will be one of the matters to be discussed with Verwoerd in Cape Town this week by Daan Viljoen, administrator of South West Africa and members of his executive committee.

Among men, firearms is the commonest method of suicide. Poisoning outranks other methods with women.

VISITORS — Mrs. Mary Tomlinson, center, and Mrs. G. Guy Campbell, right, were two Circleville residents participating in the Third Ohio Cured Cancer Assembly Sunday in Columbus. The assembly served as a kickoff for the 1961 Ohio Cancer Crusade. Pictured with Mrs. Tomlinson and Mrs. Campbell are Virginia Graham (left), New York radio and television star, and Edward J. DeBartolo of Youngstown, chairman of the 1961 Ohio Cancer Crusade.

Cancer Crusade Kickoff Meeting Thursday

A "kick-off" meeting will be held for the 1961 Pickaway County Cancer Crusade at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Gerald Doering, county chairman, today urged all chairman, co-chairmen and captains for residential and area solicitations to attend.

Final instructions and materials for the campaign will be distributed at the meeting and a crusade film will be shown, said the local chairman.

Judge Guy Cline Speaks At Junior Women's Club

The April meeting of Circleville Junior Women's Club was held in the home of Mrs. Jacques Sweeney, 535 Ridgewood Drive.

The meeting opened with devotions entitled "April Children", led by Mrs. Robert Turner. Members answered roll call by giving the names and ages of their children.

Judge Guy Cline, Pickaway County Probate Judge was guest speaker. He spoke on juvenile delinquency. Judge Cline gave the organization of the Juvenile Court in Pickaway County.

He stated that more than half the crimes committed last year were committed by juveniles, that 75 per cent of the auto thefts were carried out by minors, and that 75 per cent of all offenses involving autos were committed by juveniles.

Judge Cline stated that the automobile seems to be the biggest factor in juvenile crimes and parents are vitally responsible for insuring their children using cars properly. Parents must understand their children's language so that they can understand their desires and problems.

Judge Cline reminded the group that today's youth does not work as much as a child did in years gone by. Therefore, the juveniles must discipline themselves more and parents can and must help them along the road to self control and maturity.

After the informative program the club business meeting was held. Election of officers for the club year, 1961-62 was held with Mrs. Maynard Slack elected president; Mrs. Don Vogel, vice-president; Mrs. Earl Weaver, recording secretary; Mrs. Jerald Harrell, corresponding secretary; Miss Carolyn Fudge, treasurer and Mrs. Joseph Brooks, historian.

It was decided that each club member will contribute to the Pickaway County Council for Exceptional Children, making the club one of the charter members of the council. Guests of club members at the meeting were Mrs. Jack Linton and Mrs. Edward Cohen. Mrs. Don Greenlee was named into club membership.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Double Punishment!

DEAR ABBY: Our upstairs neighbor has a 12-year-old son who takes piano lessons. She uses "piano practicing" as a punishment. The poor kid lost his over-shoes, so she made him stay home all day Saturday and practice the piano for three hours I can hear "The Blue Danube" in my sleep.

Would it be all right if I, and the neighbor next door to her, told her she should think up another punishment?

THE LADY DOWNSTAIRS
DEAR LADY: Tell her. If the boy has any desire to play the piano, the mother couldn't find a better way to destroy it. She has a right to "punish" her son, but not the neighbors.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and I guess you could call me a "good girl." I mean I obey my parents, get good grades and have nice friends.

I am corresponding with a boy who is in the Air Force. It is sort of my hobby. I like him very much and he writes interesting letters. He doesn't write "love letters" (but he signs them "Love").

My problem is this: My mother reads his letters while I am gone. I don't lock them up. I keep them in a shoe box in my drawer. If she asked if she could read them, I would let her because there is nothing in his letters I have to be ashamed of. She even asked me if I would please ask this boy to print because his writing is hard for her to read. I think she is wrong to read his letters without asking me first, but how does a respectful daughter tell her mother this?

Teenagers Gain Knowledge From Unusual Summer Jobs

By VIVIAN BROWN
Do you plan to work this summer?

It may be a breeze if you find a job that is different, advises pretty Diane O'Dell, 18, Northwestern University freshman.

She found a job last summer "with an element of newness, a challenge," as a U. S. mail carrier.

"I'd never seen or heard of a girl mail carrier when I began entertaining the idea," she explains, "but I reasoned that I couldn't lose anything by applying."

The postal executive at Wilton, Conn., her hometown, did a double take when she asked for a job.

"I thought it was a brushoff when he said he'd let me know, so I was surprised when he called me to report for work," says Diane.

Her regular job was special delivery carrier, but she also sorted and sacked mail, working split hours during the week, and a long day Saturday until 11 p. m.

She earned $90 some weeks, including overtime.

"The big drawback for a girl is dirt from the constant traffic in mail bags. The trucks are dirty, and sacking mail is like working in a coal bin. It gets your arms and clothes filthy, especially around the first of the month when bills make the mail heavier. But it can be lots of fun, particularly for a girl."

There are people who look at a mail lady in disbelief, she says, questioning whether you're rehearsing for a play or being initiated into a sorority. Others stare as if you are absconding with government property, particularly when you are on "pickup."

Women are more suspicious than men, who try to help lady carriers. And every individual seems to think that his special delivery letter has come straight from the post office.

"The popular conception of a special is that the carrier drops everything at the post office and speeds out in the mail truck to deliver the letter."

Special mail follows the same routes as other mail, Diane explains. "Those on the first part of the route are friendly, those who get their letters late are likely to growl." She delivered 94 letters in one day.

Diane says she's an "odd sort of persons for doing things nobody else is doing," and it paid off in the mail job. The $1,000 she earned in 2½ months helped pay her college tuition.

If you'd consider a mail carrier job, she says, the first consideration is not the money, the hours or the working conditions.

"The most important qualification for the job is strength and a good set of muscles. Those sacks are heavy," warns Diane.

Her plans for next summer aren't certain. She's looking for still another odd, challenging job.

Baseball Play Opens Today On All Fronts

White Sox Collect
Formal Opener with Win over Senators

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 1961 major league baseball season opens today on all fronts following Monday's sneak preview in the nation's capital where the Chicago White Sox downed the Washington Senators 4-3.

Weather permitting, all eight National League teams and the rest of the 10-club American League circuit, after a month of preliminaries, begin their long battle for championship honors.

In the National League, St. Louis opens at Milwaukee, Chicago at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh at San Francisco and Philadelphia at Los Angeles. All are daylight affairs except in Los Angeles, which plays nearly all its games at night. In the American, Minnesota is at New York, Los Angeles at Baltimore, Kansas City at Boston and Cleveland at Detroit. Chicago and Washington have a day off.

More than the usual problems confront the majors this year because of the American League's bold expansion from eight to 10 clubs. The National, committed to add New York and Houston next year, undoubtedly will be awaiting developments, along with millions of fans throughout the country.

In the meantime, numerous other questions await answers. Here are some of them:

1. Will the New York Yankees be as successful under their new manager, Ralph Houk, as they were under Casey Stengel?

2. Are the Los Angeles Dodgers' rookie phenoms — Willie Davis, Charlie Smith, Ron Perranoski, Doug Camilli—really that good?

3. Have the Baltimore kids really grown up?

4. Can Frank Bolling and Roy McMillan offset Milwaukee's loss of outfielder Bill Bruton and pitchers Joey Jay and Juan Pizarro?

5. Are the Chicago White Sox too old?

6. Can Dick Groat, last year's batting champion, most valuable player and Pittsburgh's inspirational leader, lead the Pirates to another flag?

7. Will Johnny Antonelli find himself in Cleveland?

8. Will Alvin Dark, San Francisco's new manager, restore teamwork among the Giants?

9. Can new manager Bob Schefling shake the Detroit Tigers out of their lethargy?

10. Should Stan Musial, after 20 glorious seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals, have retired?

11. How much will the Boston Red Sox miss Ted Williams?

12. How will the Chicago Cubs' no-manager idea work out?

13. How much elastic is left in the rubber arms of ace relief pitchers Lindy McDaniel, Elroy Face, Gerry Staley, Mike Fornieles and Hoyt Wilhelm?

14. Will Cleveland's explosive center field star, Jimmy Piersall, settle down?

15. Will veteran pitchers Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Earl Wynn of Chicago reach their 300-victory goal this year?

Rickey Jr. Dies

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Branch Rickey Jr., a Pittsburgh Pirate vice president given a lot of credit for the recent success of the club, died Monday in Presbyterian Hospital.

The 47-year-old Rickey was the son of Branch Rickey Sr., one of baseball's most renowned personalities.

A hospital spokesman said death was caused by hepatitis, diabetes and pneumonia. He had been hospitalized 10 times since 1954.

Baseball Group Needs Managers

Joy S. Parmer, 654 E. Mound St., president of the Circleville Youth Baseball Program, Inc., today made a direct appeal to fathers and adult relatives of Circleville and Pickaway County boys to aid in the 1961 youth baseball program.

Parmer in his first year at the helm, said at least eight to 10 more managers are urgently needed to conduct the expanding Circleville organized youth baseball program. Tryouts start Saturday, April 15, and managers must be assigned prior to that date.

Parmer said there are three openings in the Babe Ruth minor league one opening in the Babe Ruth major league, two in the Little League major league and one in the LL minor league.

"Without male adults with a working knowledge of baseball to manage and instruct our youths in this summer program, our entire program cannot succeed," Parmer stated.

"NO AMOUNT of planning and effort upon the part of the Program's board of directors can substitute for the necessary 25 managers to handle these teams. The 10-member board has worked all winter and spring, setting up this program, but without 25 men to assist us, the Program is at no avail," Parmer said.

A meeting of both Babe Ruth and Little League managers and the Program directors has been called for 7:30 p. m. today in the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Final plans and instructions will be made in anticipation of Saturday's opening day of the two to three week tryouts. Once tryouts have been completed, players will be assigned teams and practice will begin around May 1.

Equipment will be issued once teams have been named. Complete uniforms for all participating youths will be distributed prior to the annual membership drive, scheduled June 4. This drive is staged to collect funds for the accident insurance, which covers all participants of the program, including players, managers, umpires and other officials.

Saturday's tryouts will be for eight and nine-year olds only. All must present birth certificates; 10-year-old tryouts commence Monday; Eleven-year-old tryouts will be held Tuesday, April 18; and 12-year-old tryouts April 19. Lee Smith, E. Mound St., Program player agent in charge of the Little League, will supervise all tryouts.

Babe Ruth tryouts for 13, 14, and 15-year-old youths start April 22 and continue throughout the following week. Chester Iery, Sunnyview Drive, player agent in charge of the Babe Ruth League, will supervise these tryouts.

ALL Babe Ruth and Little League major league managers must be on hand for these tryouts so they may intelligently bid upon their players. All minor league managers may attend if they so desire.

In addition to needing managers, Parmer said that the Program desires at least 15 persons to share score-keeper duties. Mothers and fathers both are welcome to furnish this service.

"This baseball program is a cooperative project where everyone is welcome and can provide a vital service toward its success. We can only do so much and then the rest is up to you," Parmer said.

"We expect to enroll more than 450 youths from a population area of nearly 40,000 into this year's expanded program. Six teams have been added to accommodate every youth in the Circleville trading area who wants to learn and play America's most popular sport," he said.

Parmer said that last year more than 50 boys in the 13 to 15 year age bracket couldn't play because of the shortage of Babe Ruth teams. This year we have added four Babe Ruth minor league teams to make doubly sure that there is no youth who doesn't have the opportunity to play.

"The groundwork has been laid. Two additional ball fields will be added (for a total of five), two program directors have been employed (replacing the previous one), and additional uniforms and equipment have arrived. We lack only one item — managers. Surely there are eight or 10 more men willing to give us a hand," Parmer said.

Anyone willing to give help is urged to contact Parmer (GR 4-3592), James I. Smith III (GR 4-6125) or any director or attendant tonight's session at the Fairgrounds.

Niagara Falls will retreat into Lake Erie in 27,000 years, if erosion continues at the present rate.

Dykes Sees Chance for Indian Flag

DETROIT (AP)—Before Cleveland opened its 1961 season against the Tigers here today, Manager Jimmie Dykes was asked if he thinks the Indians have a real chance to win the American League pennant.

"I sure do," Dykes snapped. "Nobody's going to overpower this league. We sure do have a chance. I like this ball club."

But Dykes still believes the defending champion New York Yankees are the team to beat despite their poor spring exhibition record.

"When you have a team of veterans like the Yankees have, those spring games don't mean a thing," Dykes continued between puffs on his cigar. "The champs are the guys you have to figure on beating."

"The White Sox have good balance and Baltimore should have terrific pitching. Those Orioles should have the best pitching of anybody—if last year meant anything."

He is pleased with his own pitching staff, especially the starters. Dykes said. He added that he also expects the bullpen to become solid.

To a query whether Gary Bell has recovered from the shoulder miseries of last season, Dykes replied:

"He's got the old zip back on his fast ball. He will be all right. In fact, I'm planning to pitch him Thursday."

Machen Hoping For Title Shot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I was asked to prove myself in order to get a shot at the championship," declared second-ranking heavyweight contender Eddie Machen.

"I think I did it." The Portland, Ore., boxer scored a clear-cut 10-round decision at the Cow Palace Monday night over a sluggish Mike DeJohn.

"There was a lot of pressure," Machen added. "I had everything to lose. Mike had everything to gain."

Steamin' Demon Is Possible Starter in Rich Gotham Trot

George W. Van Camp's Steam-in' Demon is a probable starter in the twelfth annual Gotham Trot Thursday at Yonkers Raceway in New York.

The race carries a purse of $65,000 and is at a distance of a mile and a quarter.

There will be a distinct Ohio flavor in the trotting duel. Buckeye horses expected to join Steam-in' Demon are Senator Frost, owned by Wayne Galvin of Wilmington and Demon Damsel that will be driven by Eddie Cobb of Washington C. H.

The race is expected to feature its largest field in history.

At least 13 starters appear likely for the first competition this year between European and North American trotters. The previous high for entries was reached in 1952, when 12 went to the post. Eleven started in 1956, and again in 1959. There were fields of ten in 1953 and 1955. There were nine in 1950, the first year, and again in 1960.

Kennedy Surprises Pro Baseballers

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy—better known in sports circles as a tough football player—opened the 1961 baseball season with a high, hard peg that caught the pros off base.

As ceremonial throws go, it was a beaut.

At these opening day affairs, the players have more respect for the presidential office than the presidential arm, and they creep toward the official box as if they were expecting a bullet.

President Kennedy crossed them up Monday. Like a catcher trying to catch a runner at second, Kennedy snapped a throw. It bounced off the hands of two players and was grabbed by Jim Rivera of the Chicago White Sox who was backing the play.

The President's second toss — for the benefit of the cameramen — also was muffed. Hal Woodeschick, Washington pitcher, recovered the ball in the manner of a football player smothering a fumble.

At the last telegraphy competition in 1939, the champion sent 74 words a minute.

and trained and driven by Stanley Dancer, won this race at a mile and a half last year. He heads the American contingent that will be battling two Italian entrants and one from West Germany. The race will thin out the ranks for the United Nations Trot on April 20 and the National Championship Trot on April 27.

Jariolain, the brown 8-year-old "picture horse" of Europe, and Lavandiere III, a sturdy 6-year-old mare, will run as an entry for their Italian co-owner, Enzo standing gentleman driver of Europe, will be in the sulky behind one of the French-bred pair. Orlando Zamboni will drive the other.

Jariolain, who raced in the United States in 1959, has trotted the mile in 1:58.3 at Hollywood Park in California, and has a 2:03.3 rating in France. Lavandiere III, a vastly improved mare, could be the "sleeper" of the two.

From Hamburg, West Germany will be Iskander F., the winner of the Prix de France at Vincennes in February when he defeated Kracovie. Iskander F. is owned by Wilhelm Geldbach and trained and driven by Walter Heitman.

Ted Gibbons, Yonkers' racing secretary, indicates that 13 or more starters are virtually a certainty.

Other probable starters in this richest of all Gothams include Air Record, Circo, Tie Silk, Silver Song, Darn Safe, Great Lullwater

Middie Magician Slated at Clinic

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP) —Two of Ohio's most successful high school coaches, Paul Walker of Middletown and Leo Strang of Massillon, will be on the faculty of a clinic here April 15.

Walker, tutor of the "Middie magic" which has led Middletown to seven state basketball championships, will tell how he does it at the event sponsored by the Eastern Ohio Coaches Association at Martins Ferry High School.

Strang, who has won two state football titles and 28 victories against two losses and a tie in three years at Massillon, will outline his unbalanced line offense.

Others on the program include Lou Rossini, New York University basketball coach, and Bill Elias, U. of Virginia football mentor.

Gary Player Cops Masters Trophy

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player, a spry-like golf Midas from South Africa, today had swelled his 1961 gold strike to $45,000 by becoming the first foreign-born Masters champion since the meet started in 1934.

Whether Player, 25, beat defending champion Arnold Palmer by a stroke, or Palmer beat him-

Old Veteran, Rookie Boost Odds on Celts

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Sharman, nearing the end of a remarkable career, and rookie Tom Sanders are two important reasons Boston is favored to win the National Basketball Association playoffs tonight.

Seeking their fourth title in five years, the Celtics meet the always dangerous St. Louis Hawks at Boston Garden just one victory away from their goal. Boston leads the best-of-seven final series 3-1.

"Sharman is having his greatest all-around playoff series since he's been in the NBA (11 years)," said Coach Red Auerbach after Sunday's 119-104 triumph at St. Louis.

His defensive play has been the best ever, currently holding the most dangerous Hawks' backcourt man, rookie Lenny Wilkens, four points below the latter's season average. The most accurate foul shooter in professional annals also is shaking loose for his patented jumpers and one handed sets.

Ignored by the other NBA clubs and faced with the improbable task of even occupying bench space on a championship squad, Satch Sanders from New York University "has come into his own when we need him the most," says Auerbach.

Sanders hasn't been able to stop St. Louis' Bob Pettit or Syracuse's Dolph Schayes cold but he has kept them busy.

"Being asked to guard men like Pettit has done the most to help my confidence," admits Sanders whose 22 points ruined the Hawks Sunday.

"This gang of mine won't quit," warned Hawks' Coach Paul Seymour. "They'll be loose, too, figuring they have nothing to lose now."

Spirit High, Flag Hope Low At Cincinnati Reds Opener

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati was in its annual Opening Day baseball dither today but not even the most optimistic had much in the way of National League pennant hopes.

Weather permitting, the Reds and the Chicago Cubs, who also figure to be among the "also rans," were to get the 1961 season under way at 2:30 p.m. EST.

The experts have doped the Reds to finish sixth and the Cubs either seventh or eighth.

The weather was the big problem.

Monday, temperatures hovered around 40 and during the forenoon there was both rain and snow. The cold and dampness prevented the Reds from taking a full - scale workout at Crosley Field.

The Weather Bureau, however, forecast a little warmer today, with a high in the mid-50s and even a chance of some glimpses of the sun.

Jim O'Toole, 24-year-old southpaw, for Cincinnati and Glen Hobbie, 25-year-old right-hander were slated to be the opposing pitchers. O'Toole, starting his third full season in the majors, had a 5-8 record in 1959 and was 12-12 last year. Hobbie won 16 but lost 20 last year.

O'Toole is one of the corps of young pitchers that General Manager Bill DeWitt and Manager Fred Hutchinson hope will solve Cincinnati's perennial hurling problems.

But there are other question marks, too.

One is the shortstop-second base situation. If rookie Jim Baumer's injured arm isn't sufficiently healed, Elio Chacon was expected to start at second with Eddie Kasko at shortstop.

Both Baumer and Chacon present probable weaknesses at bat and there have been rumors the Reds will swap relief pitcher Bill Henry to San Francisco for Don Blasingame in an effort to plug the second base hole.

DeWitt had no comment Monday on any possible trades.

The second baseman — if it's Baumer—and third baseman Gene Freese were due to be the only new comers in the Cincinnati lineup. The only new face among the Cubs was to be rookie outfielder Billy Williams.

Today's game was to have its usual fanfare—the parade to the park by members of the Findlay Market Association, presentation of a flag and flowers and the throwing out of the first ball to Mayor Walton Bachrach and City Manager C. A. Harrell. William (Dummy) Hoy, at 98 the oldest living former major league player, was to throw out the ball.

Regardless of the weather the attendance was expected to be somewhere between 30,000 and 32,000.

Sub Postal Aides Face Work Limit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department has announced plans to ask 10,000 regular employees to limit their hours by limiting the hours substitute employees can work.

Substitute workers will be limited to 40 to 44 hours a week, effective July 1, according to an order issued by Postmaster General J. Edward Day. Regular career employees are limited to an 80-hour biweekly paycheck.

Day said some substitutes have been working so many extra hours their paychecks have been double-sized. He called this unfair to the regulars and a hazard to the substitutes' health, an impairment of the department's efficiency, and, in the case of vehicle drivers, a possible safety threat.

The postmaster said the move was aimed at providing more regular jobs by sharing employment among more persons rather than paying higher salaries to some substitutes. Most of the 10,000 jobs, he said, would be filled from existing Civil Service registers of job eligibles. In a few communities, he said, it may be necessary to advertise for applicants.

The department said the actual jobs expected to be created, by rule of thumb, could be arrived at by dividing the figure in half. The list of potential positions, not broken down by the 50 per cent guide, included:

Indiana 272, Kentucky 131, Ohio 804, Pennsylvania 1,855, and West Virginia 48.

Redlegs Buy Indiana Hurler

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds Monday bought the contract of pitcher Ken Hunt from their Indianapolis farm affiliate of the American Association.

The 22-year-old Hunt, a right-hander, had a 16-6 mark with Columbia of the South Atlantic League last year and an earned run average of 2.86. He had been one of the pitching surprises of the Reds' spring training, allowing only eight earned runs in 22 innings of exhibition game work.

With the signing of Hunt, the Reds also optioned pitcher Bob Moorhead to Jersey City of the International League. Moorhead had an 8-9 record with Jersey City last year and now is about to complete his military service.

SUPREME COURT ASSIGNMENT — Judge William D. Radcliff, Fourth District Court of Appeals, has been appointed to sit on the Ohio Supreme Court starting today. Judge Radcliff is substituting for Judge Thomas J. Herbert, former Governor of Ohio, who suffered a stroke recently. ## Appeals Court Judge Assists High Tribunal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Judge William D. Radcliff of the 4th District Appellate Court today occupies the Ohio Supreme Court seat of Judge Thomas J. Herbert, who was hospitalized last month by a heart ailment.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant said Judge Radcliff, whose home is in Williamsport, near Circleville, has been assigned to sit in this week and possibly longer.

Weygant said only one of the 18 cases on this week's high court docket was appealed from the 4th District, which embraces 15 southern Ohio counties. That will permit Radcliff to hear all but the case appealed from his district, Weygant explained.

The chief justice said Herbert is "getting along fine" but apparently will be hospitalized for a few weeks. He expressed hope Radcliff could pinch-hit for longer than a week. If not, Weygant said, some other appeals court judge will be called in.

The first case scheduled for hearing with Radcliff sitting in involves the attempt of a Cleveland attorney to obtain $200 in payment for services as counsel, appointed by Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court, to defend a man accused of a felony. County Auditor John J. Carney refused to issue the order for payment on grounds it was not properly authorized.

Social Security Spokesman Suggests Means for Approval

E. H. Biedenholz, district manager of the Chillicothe Social Security office, announced today several ways by which persons who will be retiring in the near future may speed approval of benefits.

Biedenholz listed the following suggestions: All necessary evidence proving the age of the applicant should accompany him on the first visit to the office.

A birth certificate is preferred, but if not available, there are many types of evidence which will prove age, such as baptismal records, insurance policy, or family Bible.

Evidence of recent earnings may also be needed to establish monthly payments. The 1960 withholding tax statement (form W-2) is the best evidence for an employee.

SELF-EMPLOYED persons should bring copies of the two previous years tax returns and evidence to show that returns were filed with the Internal Revenue Service. A cancelled check, money order stub, or bank receipt is sufficient evidence to show that it was filed.

Married persons, whose spouse is applying for monthly benefits, must provide the same information as above.

Biedenholz stated that if there is any doubt about what information will be needed to process a claim, call the social security office before retirement and the representative will clear up any problems.

Franklin PTA Elects Officers

Willard McConaughy, 329 Nicholas Drive, was elected chairman of the Franklin - Mount St. PTA at a recent meeting.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Carl Rihl, co-chairman; Mrs. Forrest Hoffman, secretary; and Mrs. Keith Wagner, treasurer.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. O. F. Guenther, followed by the invocation by Mrs. Roger Hobbie.

The following were members of the nominating committee for election of officers: Mrs. Don McFarland, Mrs. Roy Garrett and Mrs. William Hughes.

THE program was opened by Mrs. E. G. Grigg, chairman of the local blood bank. She gave a brief talk on the need of blood donors.

Richard Snuffer, new principal of Circleville High School, presented a film strip, "Your Child's Intelligence". It was followed by a brief discussion period.

Eichmann Trial Opens in Israel

He was wearing a dark gray business suit, a white shirt and a striped necktie that matched his suit. He peered once through the glass toward the audience, nodded once to Servatius and the lawyer's assistants.

Then he turned his head toward the three judges and appeared never to take his eyes off them.

The courtroom, in Jerusalem's community center, is a theater-like room with 746 seats. All of them were filled 20 minutes before the start of the trial today at 9:01 a.m. Most of the spectators were newsmen.

Concealed television cameras brought the proceedings to various points around the building by closed circuit, and to a theater a block away where 700 people watched. The trial is being conducted in Hebrew, Israel's official language, with simultaneous translation into English, French and German. Small transistor radios, tunable to all four languages, were used by the spectators.

Sitting with Justice Landau are Benjamin Halevy, president of the Jerusalem District Court, and Izhak Raveh, president of the Tel Aviv District Court.

The opposing attorneys and their assistants sit at a long table directly in front of the judge's bench.

As the trial opened, Landau ordered Eichmann to rise and asked him if he was "Adolf Eichmann, son of Karl Adolf Eichmann."

"Ja wohl," the defendant replied, his voice steady and deep over the public address system.

Landau then began reading the massive indictment. As he went along, Eichmann stood like a ramrod. His head was thrown slightly back, his square chin raised. Nothing showed in his face as the list of crimes with which he is charged was being read.

After each numbered section of the indictment was read in Hebrew, the translation into German was read in open court.

Eichmann continued to stare at the bench. His thin lips were pressed tightly together, giving him a slightly petulant look.

He is of medium size, slim, bespectacled and bald. His nose is large, slightly crooked, with a sharp tip.

As he stood in the dock, peering through his spectacles toward the judges, he could see on the wall behind them a bronze Menorah, the ancient seven-armed Jewish candelabra that is part of the national emblem of Israel.

Correspondents came and went in relays during the reading of the indictment. With the translation into German, it took an hour and 10 minutes.

When he had finished, Landau asked Eichmann if he had understood. The prisoner indicated that he had.

"Tell him he may sit down," Landau said to the translator.

Eichmann took his seat, between two blue-uniformed Israeli policemen. He continued to look toward the bench.

At this point, Eichmann would have been asked for his plea—guilty or not guilty as charged in the indictment—but Servatius rose to challenge the legal basis of the trial.

The West German lawyer is short, barrel-bodied, with gray hair and gold-rimmed spectacles. He was wearing black robes and a white necktie. The prosecution lawyers wore black robes and black neckties.

"Before he replies to the question of whether he is guilty or not," Servatius said, "I wish to examine matters of prejudice and the lack of authority of this court."

Eichmann turned to look at him. His hands were folded in his lap. His large, dark-rimmed spectacles gave him an owl's look.

Whenever there was a word from the bench, he would turn to look toward the bench. Then his eyes turned back toward Servatius, like a man watching a tennis game.

In a low but emphatic voice, Servatius said Eichmann should be tried by a German court, that no exceptional law is needed to try Eichmann—"such a law and such a court already exist in Germany."

He questioned whether Eichmann could get a fair trial in Israel because so many of its citizens may have lost one or more relatives during the war and because feelings run so deep.

"How can the accused expiate for what was done by a large part of the (German) people?" he asked. "Nor can he expiate what his government perpetrated. That government was involved in these actions and it is the state which is responsible."

Servatius pictured Eichmann as only an instrument of the Nazi leaders and said he was "dragged into these actions by the state."

Referring to the Nuremberg war crimes in 1946, Servatius said Eichmann was a much smaller figure than the men tried there. "The accused here in this court does not belong to the same circle of leaders and he can't be measured by the same yardstick," he said.

Turning to the members of the court, the defense lawyer said, "It may be justified that there may be prejudice in the minds of the judges, or one of the judges. This is enough to exclude the judges from sitting in judgment on this case."

Although he singled out none of the three, he presumably had in mind Justice Halevy, who referred to Eichmann as "the devil" while presiding over a collaboration case four years ago. Servatius challenged the 1950 law "for the punishment of Nazis and collaborators" under which Eichmann is being tried, because it was adopted after the alleged offenses took place and therefore was ex post facto, or retroactive. This, he said, was illegal.

The defense counsel also charged that Eichmann was kidnapped in Buenos Aires and brought to Israel on orders of the Israeli government, a charge the government has denied. Servatius charged that the kidnaping was illegal.

He read out a statement Eichmann had signed, agreeing to stand trial in Israel. Eichmann in the statement said he was acting "out of my own free will, not because of promises given nor because of threats," but Servatius said he reserved the right to bring proof that the statement was obtained under duress.
